General Information:

The C1 scooter was built in Turin by Bertone. BMW sold more than 30,000 units. The advertising strategists decided that yuppies were the ideal customers for the C1. Perhaps they did some research and the statistics showed that yuppies always carry umbrellas with them. We are simply looking for a customer who enjoys this unique mode of transportation and appreciates its high-quality features. On top of that, the customer only needs a license for a 125cc vehicle.
